

Bio: Amy Yamamura

Kelley Solberg Real Estate Team

---

Amy Yamamura

Executive Assistant

Blending 20 years of customer service experience with outstanding organizational skills and creativity, Amy supports the team through her unique ability to connect meaningfully with clients, liaise with vendors, and move each real estate transaction efficiently through its lifecycle. Amy is a true people person who loves to listen to clients' needs and share in their excitement as they experience the joys of buying or selling a home.

An avid supporter of human-focused charitable organizations, Amy has led several immersion trips throughout the years. She has mentored teens through rebuilding efforts in underserved communities in Mexico, and she helped to reconstruct fifteen homes after Hurricane Katrina. Closer to home, she participates in hospice volunteer services at El Camino Hospital and climbs Mount Tamalpais during the annual Peak Hike in support of breast cancer prevention.

Amy earned her BA in Human Development from CSU, Long Beach. In her spare time, she enjoys hiking and photography, capturing the spectacular beauty of the Bay Area.